By E. C. DRUMHURST.

Weddings! Weddings! June has ordinarily been known as the bridal month, but after looking over the records for this past month I have almost reached the conclusion that the title should go to August.

Practically every week has been the marriage of someone of interest to Washington, if not actually of the city. This past week, in fact, has been marked by a long list of interesting weddings. Chief in interest, of course, was the unexpected marriage of Peggy Simonds. A few of her most intimate friends—those who were not so close in her confidence—knew of her engagement to young Arthur Drury of New York and Washington, but the date of the marriage had been kept a profound secret.

The wedding took place in New York last Monday, and the news of the event did not reach Washington until the young couple were well away on their honeymoon.

PRINCE ATTACHED BY MISS SIMONDS.

At first many of her friends regarded it as hardly possible that a "mere American" had won the prize coveted—on both sides of the Atlantic. Of course, the wedding of the young woman was with the Prince of Wales and the staff of young Englishmen who accompanied him overseas. The group of girls who were so prominent in the entertainments arranged for the prince and his party, and was singled out by him for special attention during his stay in Washington, when the young girl was only in Washington, but in the United States as well, to receive a personal call from the prince. The story of that visit has become his, and probably was largely responsible for the silly stories regarding her supposed engagement to the English heir. Personally, I never believed those tales, because I had heard rumors of the true state of Miss Peggy's heart. You remember, I referred to the fact that her heart was on this side of the Atlantic only a few weeks ago when she returned so unexpectedly from abroad.

RETURN TO AMERICA COMES AS SURPRISE.

Frankly, I wouldn't be a bit surprised if Mrs. C. C. C. Gibson, hadn't sent her daughter to England to help her to forget her American. Anyway, the medicine failed to work for Miss Peggy returned before he was presented at court, and promptly married her American. She returned in the midst of gossip concerning her coming presentation at the English court and went to her mother's home, Rosedale House, at Princeton, N. J. She had only been home a fortnight before she slipped away to New York for her wedding. Mrs. Gibson is now in Harrisburg, Pa., where she was called suddenly by the illness of a relative. Capt. Gibson has been in Washington, where he has been for several weeks.

Personally, I think Miss Peggy showed rare judgment. Arthur Drury is an attractive young chap and quite evidently madly in love with his pretty young bride. He is, too, a really a Washingtonian, though he is at present in New York. His father is Peter Drury, president of the Merchants Bank of Washington, and one of the most prominent and influential business men of the city.

I suppose the wedding means, though, that Washington will lose little Mrs. Drury as a permanent member of the younger set. She is, too, a popular here, having been active in her little group of young people since her debut two winters ago. New York, however, is only a step away, so her loss will not be as complete as though she had married overseas. At present Mr. and Mrs. Drury are honeymooning and their plans for their future are still unannounced.

NEW YORK GIRL WEDS ECUADOR ENVOY.

Another wedding of interest to Washington was the marriage yesterday of Miss Argenta Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Perkins of New York, and General Italy, to Senor Don Luis Antonio Penaherrera, attaché of the Legation of Ecuador in Washington, at Spring Lake, N. J. The ceremony was performed at the Essex and Sussex Hotel.

The bride is the granddaughter of the late Col. Oliver Thomas Beard and a niece of Anson Mook Beard, of New York, and of William Montgomery Beard of New York. Her sister, Miss Olive Perkins was married in January, 1919 to the Marchese Stefano d'Alton. As a child and young girl Miss Perkins spent the greater part of her time with her parents in Genoa, but of late years has been spending her winters in Washington.

Senor Penaherrera has been connected with the Legation of Ecuador in Washington for a little over a year, during which time he has made his home at the Esplanade.

ECUADOR ENVOY ATTENDS CEREMONY.

The wedding was quite a simple one, attended only by relatives of the bride, a few intimate friends and the members of the legation staff in Washington. The Minister of Ecuador, Senor Don Rafael H. Elizalde, accompanied by the secretary of the legation, Senor Don Miguel A. de Ycaza, went up to Spring Lake on Friday to be present at a large dinner party in Miss Perkins' honor.

GOES TO PARIS FOR DIVORCE.

Mrs. Louise Cromwell Brooks went to Paris in June of last year to establish a legal residence, preparatory to bringing suit for divorce from her husband on the ground of desertion. She was accompanied by her brother, Lieut. James H. R. Cromwell, and met her husband in Paris, but with no attempt at reconciliation.

Announcement of Mrs. Brooks' intention to sue for divorce was made by her mother, Mrs. E. T. Stotter, of Philadelphia, but no names were mentioned and no reasons given. Mrs. Brooks came back to Baltimore on December 30 last to see her two children, Louise E. Brooks, 8 years old, and Walter E. Brooks, 3 years old, both of whom were in Johns Hopkins Hospital awaiting operations for adenoids. Later they were taken with Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Stotter to Palm Beach. Husband and wife met at the children's bedside, but no reconciliation took place.

THEIR WEDDING AT ST. THOMAS.

Their wedding at St. Thomas, Protestant Episcopal Church in Washington was one of the most brilliant social affairs of the Capital. It occurred on May 1, 1911, with Bishop Alfred Harding and the Rev. C. Ernest Smith officiating. They established their home at 614 Park avenue, Mr. Brooks later buying a fine country place at Eccleston in the Green Spring Valley. In 1917 Mrs. Brooks turned over the city house to the use of soldiers and sailors. Mr. Brooks became a captain of engineers in the army soon after the war was declared.

Mr. Brooks' parents are now at their summer home at York Harbor, Me., where Louise Cromwell Brooks also has a summer residence. I've always heard she is still quite intimate with the Brooks family, even though divorced from their son.

HOWARD FIGG TAKES MISS STRAUSS AS BRIDE.

A wedding of interest to Washington took place in Del Monte, Cal., yesterday, that of Miss Edith Strauss to Howard Figg. Miss Strauss has been for some months the head of the women's bureau of the Department of Justice, and Mr. Figg is the assistant to the Attorney General in charge of the department crusade against the high cost of living. The marriage was the culmination of quite a pretty romance that grew out of long discussions in ways and means of tracking the elusive profiteer to his lair. Miss Strauss is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strauss, of New York, and is quite pretty and attractive as she is clever.

THE WEDDING WAS AN INFORMAL AFFAIR, ATTENDED ONLY BY THE BRIDE'S RELATIVES AND A FEW CLOSE FRIENDS.

Though the news of their engagement came a few days ago, it was a surprise to their friends out of Washington it had long been guessed at by their fellow workers in the department.

"We had a hunch it was coming," said one official, "but we didn't think it would be quite so soon. We are all for Figg and Miss Strauss, and I know they will make a mighty happy couple."

THE ROMANCE, IT IS SAID, HAD ITS INCEPTION WHEN MISS STRAUSS CAME TO THE DEPARTMENT TO TAKE CHARGE OF THE WOMEN'S BUREAU OF THE CAMPAIGN EARLY THIS YEAR.

Mr. Figg and Miss Strauss were seen motoring together in the young woman's high-powered motor several times, and rumor of their engagement was soon circulated.

Have you heard the rumor that Theodore Shouts that was, the Duchess de Chaulnes is going to marry again? The man is said to be Duke de Croust, whose greatest distinction seems to be that he was once infatuated with the late Gaby Deslys and followed her to this country. I believe it was upon his way back to France from that very trip he met the Duchess de Chaulnes on the ship. The man mentioned by Dame Rumor is said to be younger than the duchess and to possess no wealth and certainly she has money. But it may all be idle gossip.

MISS MARION LLOYD RICE BRIDE OF CAPT. BROOKS.

Walter Brooks' marriage last week caused quite a stir in Washington society. It seems that many people didn't even know he and Louise Cromwell Brooks were divorced, though they were just separated, but why they did is a mystery to me for the papers had announced in big type the fact that Mrs. Cromwell Brooks had been granted a divorce in France when it occurred about a year ago. The new Mrs. Brooks was Miss Marion Lloyd Rice of Albany, N. Y. The marriage of a woman that began on the battlefields of France where Capt. Brooks served during the war. The ceremony was performed last Thursday night at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the Rev. J. David Clark, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Towson, Md., near Baltimore. Mr. Brooks and his bride went to his Baltimore apartment.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Rice, of Albany, N. Y., and is a graduate of Dana Hall, Wellesley College. She also studied at Mrs. Hess' School in Paris. She has traveled extensively in Europe and America, and is prominent among the younger set in Albany and the Junior assembly. Miss Rice was engaged in the Young Men's Christian Association work in France for a year during the war and was one of the first women welfare workers to be taken to Colbentz, Germany.

Miss Rice, who is tall and slim, is said to have been nicknamed by the soldiers overseas as the "long drink of water" because of her height and because she almost invariably appeared dressed in white.

Her father is a superintendent in the Pullman service.

GOES TO PARIS FOR DIVORCE.

Mrs. Louise Cromwell Brooks went to Paris in June of last year to establish a legal residence, preparatory to bringing suit for divorce from her husband on the ground of desertion. She was accompanied by her brother, Lieut. James H. R. Cromwell, and met her husband in Paris, but with no attempt at reconciliation.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF MRS. BROOKS' INTENTION TO SUE FOR DIVORCE WAS MADE BY HER MOTHER, MRS. E. T. STOTTER, OF PHILADELPHIA, BUT NO NAMES WERE MENTIONED AND NO REASONS GIVEN.

MRS. ROBERT V. FLEMING

And her two charming children. Mrs. Fleming is one of the popular hostesses of the youngest set in Washington. She was formerly Miss Alice L. Wright, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Daniel T. Wright.

Twitty, a classmate of the bridegroom, at West Point in 1918. Arrangements for the wedding were hastily made owing to the bridegroom's recent orders for duty at Camp Lewis, Washington. The bride is a granddaughter of the late Col. Royal E. Whitman, U. S. A.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Turner Brooks, of Buenos Aires, formerly of New Albany, Ind., and John Sterrett Gittings took place last week in Buenos Aires, where the bridegroom, Mr. Gittings, is a member of the Argentine navy. The bride is a granddaughter of the late Col. Royal E. Whitman, U. S. A.

But gracious, why go on, for the list of weddings is an endless one! I don't know when I can recall so many weddings of people of social position in midsummer as this season. I think this summer has been even the record of the war years when people married any old time that Uncle Sam could spare the money. I believe it was upon his way back to France from that very trip he met the Duchess de Chaulnes on the ship. The man mentioned by Dame Rumor is said to be younger than the duchess and to possess no wealth and certainly she has money. But it may all be idle gossip.
